

Thomas Caldow

Tom has spent his entire career working in the forensic accounting field, starting in a prominent forensic accounting firm in Adelaide, where he worked for over six years before commencing with Grant Thornton in March 2017.

During his career, Tom has specialised in providing forensic accounting services in complex and high stakes litigation. Tom has considerable experience of various Australian jurisdictions across South Australia, Victoria, New South Wales, Tasmania and Western Australia.

Tom has significant experience in large commercial litigation, compulsory acquisition, family law, and audit negligence matters and the assessment of loss in personal injury matters for both plaintiffs and defendants.