

Rhett Sugars

Rhett Sugars is a Special Counsel in the Insurance team at McInnes Wilson Lawyers in Adelaide, where he specialises in Compulsory Third Party (CTP) and broader insurance law. In this role, Rhett works closely with insurer clients, providing strategic legal advice tailored to their objectives and achieving strong outcomes in complex matters. He has been recognised in industry guides as a notable practitioner in insurance and CTP law within South Australia, including listings in “Best Lawyers” and the “Doyle’s Guide”. Rhett has extensive experience managing and negotiating complex liability disputes arising from motor vehicle accidents. His practice involves advising on liability, apportionment, and risk exposure in contested claims, and he regularly works through technically and factually challenging matters to achieve commercially sound outcomes.
