

Steven Ellis

Steven is a Senior Associate in Finlaysons' Insurance and Litigation teams, and primarily acts on behalf of private insurers, State government entities, healthcare providers and medical professionals in the defence of personal injury claims, including medical negligence and compulsory third party (CTP) claims. Steven also has a broad range of general litigation experience. Steven is recognised by both Doyle's Guide and Best Lawyers for his work in insurance law, and has an interest in the application of artificial intelligence in both insurance and legal matters. Steven has presented on several occasions over the past three years in relation to ethical issues arising from artificial intelligence.