

David Blyth

David is a founding member and director of Nexus Chambers. He practises principally in South Australia, but also accepts briefs to appear in Northern Territory, New South Wales and Victoria.

David's practice encompasses all areas of civil and commercial litigation, administrative and employment law. He has appeared in both intermediate and superior Courts in South Australia, Northern Territory, Victoria, Western Australia and New South Wales, and also in the Federal Court and Federal Circuit Court of Australia.

For the past several years, David has been recognised in Doyle's Guide as pre-eminent junior counsel in South Australia in the field of insurance and personal injury law.

David is the former secretary of the John Bray Law Alumni Network. He is a current Board member of the South Australian Board of Examiners established under the Legal Practitioners Act.